"Springtime Is Lilac Time"

The new Lilacs are vastly superior to the old, but retain all the good qualities and possess, in addition, a glory of blossoms far beyond anything ever dreamed of in staid Colonial days. There is every possible shade of purple, mauve, and blue—there are reds ranging from the palest rose to the deepest burgundy. Here is a chance to get something well worth while at exceptional prices.

The Magnificent Flowering Cherries of Washington

Do you remember the trip last year to Washington to see these magnificent trees in full bloom in Potomac Park? Flowering Cherries vary greatly in form, some spreading, many pyramidal, and others assume a weeping form. The delicate blossoms, from white to pink and deep rose, are a beautiful addition to any garden. Buy them now at a great saving.
